BIBLIOGRAPHY OF PBI'S ANIMAL LAW CONFERENCE VOLUMES 1-10 (2003-2013)

LORNA KOONTZ*

The topic of “Animal Law” has grown significantly during the past decade. Not only do many law schools offer courses on the topic, but we have also seen the creation of several law reviews—such as the Animal Law eJournal, Animal Law Review, Global Journal of Animal Law, Journal of Animal & Environmental Law, and Stanford Journal of Animal Law & Policy—organization websites and blogs dedicated to the subject. Since 2003, the Pennsylvania Bar Institute has offered an Animal Law Conference CLE that we have indexed below. In several of the volumes, chapters are broken down into sections with specific authors, and we have listed these articles by the individual author. We have provided the chapter name sometimes in a bracket following the author/title listing because it is useful to identify more clearly what the author’s topic of the article might be. We have also tried to limit the number of entries for each entry in order to keep the size of the index to a manageable amount of pages. We wish to thank Pamela Smith of the Pennsylvania Bar Institute and Dara Lovitz, Chair of the PBA Animal Law Committee, for their support in accepting this index for publication.
